A PIECE OF IPSWICH HISTORY

Remember the 175 year old American elm tree at the corner of County and East Streets?

The Friends of the Ipswich Library commissioned a table to be crafted from a section of the elm tree by local craftsman Fred Rossi, in a design that celebrates important dates in our community's history.

The Friends of the Ipswich Public Library sponsored a special reception on Saturday, 6 June 2015 to celebrate the finished work. On the picture (above) is Fred Rossi and Friends Board Member, Dorothy Johnson, along with the table.
